

Health official urges regional landfill site

The regional director of Environmental Health Services is hoping to coordinate a joint effort between St. Paul, Elk Point and the County of St. Paul in the development of a regional sanitary landfill site in the county.

Bob Scotten announced his proposal to members of the St. Paul and Elk Point town councils Monday night and received support from both governing bodies to proceed with a feasibility study. He has yet to meet with the County of St. Paul to receive their go-ahead.

"We don't really have an acceptable landfill site at this time," Scotten told Elk Point council members.

At present, Scotten said there are no approved landfill sites in the area. "What we have got are garbage dumps."

He said the present county sites are not being operated properly and the Elk Point and St. Paul sites do not meet required standards either. He added the county has applied for an additional landfill site south of the North Saskatchewan River, however he described that proposal, as "yet another problem for the future".

Scotten plans to meet with the county council April 9 and if council is in favor of the project a representative from the three councils will strike up a committee and commission a cost-free feasibility study by the Department of Environment.

A one hundred per cent capital grant is available through the department to cover the construction of a regional landfill site, which is estimated to cost half-a-million dollars. However, the three municipalities are responsible for operational costs thereafter.

Scotten said the municipalities would be looking at an annual operating budget of between $40,000 and $50,000.

"That really isn't that large of an amount when you will be able to dispose of garbage fully and finally," he said.

The department uses 47 varying criteria in the selection of a site for a regional landfill. These criteria include everything from soil types and water levels to distance from area homes and water supplies, Scotten explained.

Once a suitable location is determined and agreed upon by the cooperating municipalities, the department purchases a quarter-section of land. Forty acres of this land is put to use for the site while the balance is leased back to the seller for agricultural purposes. Scotten said this land would serve as a disposal site for 30 to 40 years and could then be reclaimed for farm use.

The landfill sites use a pit system in which two feet of compacted garbage is covered with six inches of soil before receiving subsequent layers of garbage and soil.

Transfer sites would be established at various points where garbage could be dumped into a large container and then be taken to the permanent site, Scotten explained.

If and when an agreement is reached by the three governing bodies, Scotten said it would take up to two years to get a site operational. The feasibility study would take about six months with construction unlikely to begin before the spring of 1986.

However, Scotten stressed the importance of getting such a project underway as soon as possible because he fears provincial government cutbacks may affect the continuation of the program.

Murphy explains project at open house

Residents of the Elk Point area turned out in good numbers last Tuesday, March 19, to the very informative Open House hosted by Murphy Oil Company Limited at the Elk Point Elks Hall.

Visitors were invited to view a series of pictorial panels explaining their proposed heavy oil recovery project, ask questions of the Murphy personnel in attendance, and even to feel the texture and viscosity of a container of crude oil.

Murphy Oil, who has been operating heavy oil recovery facilities in Alberta for over twenty years, and in our own area for eleven years, is preparing to embark on a much larger project in the area northeast of Elk Point. Construction of the first phase of the new project is scheduled for 1985, with production to start in 1986.

Production facilities will consist of steam generators, located between pads of directionally-drilled wells, plus flowlines to connect the wells, generators, treating plant and storage tanks. A total of 63 wells are expected to be on production initially, with an additional eighteen wells added each year, to compensate for the reduced flow from the older wells, and to maintain production at 400 cubic meters per day.

Phase I will be located in the area surrounding the present Murphy Oil facility, which was enlarged and modernised as a pilot project in 1984.

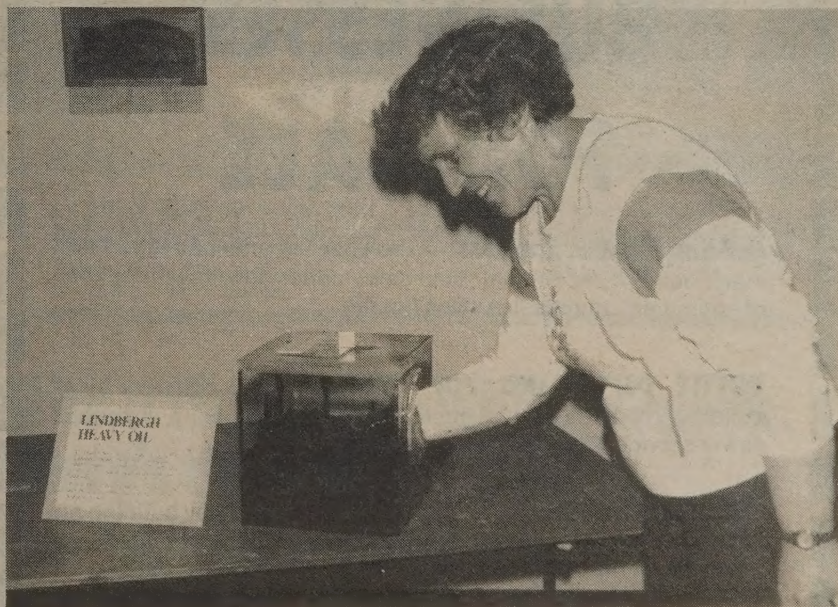

Future phases are projected for north and southwest of Phase I, with the fourth phase located further east on the southwest corner of Elizabeth Metis Colony. Tentative scheduling of these phases is, Phase II in 1988, Phase III in 1990, and Phase IV in 1992. Total production would reach 1600 cubic metres of heavy oil per day, with all four phases operating.

Water to be used in the steam generators is available from the North Saskatchewan river, and plan call for a pipeline from this source to the project site. Waste water from the project is to be injected into deep disposal wells.

Surface disturbance will be minimized by clustering the wells, thus reducing the number of surface leases and roads required. Phasing the construction will lessen the impact on the local area by minimizing traffic and demands on local services.

Employment opportunities and opportunities for local businesses are expected to be an offshoot of the project. An approximate total of 140 workers will be needed for construction work on Phase I, over a six month period, including rig crews, equipment operators, tradesmen, truckers and general laborers. Twenty-nine additional personnel will be required for Phase I

Chamber attendance still climbing

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce set a new attendance record last Wednesday, when thirty-three members and guests were on hand for the regular meeting.

The new spring season brought out a number of new people, including Yonelinas of Yonel Industries, Dan Plamondon of Blue Diamond Video, Don Kadutski, Harold Lefebvre, Billie Friesen of E-Can, Lakeland Review/St. Paul Journal Publisher, L.H. Drouin and Diane Balash of the Journal.

Much of the business coming before the meeting dealt with plans for the coming summer. The Chamber made a firm decision to relocate its Tourist Information Booth adjacent to the new burger bar planned for spring construction by Roland Gascon on the west side of Highway 41 and south of the Fort George Motel. Gascon has offered the Chamber free use of part of his land to locate the booth, and also use of his washroom facilities.

Although the Tourist Booth did not get its promised facelift last year, it will this season, said Lloyd Metz, who in addition to the paint he offered last year, has now offered to have the booth painted and moved as well.

Elk Point will be well represented in the Lakeland Tourist Association's calendar of coming events, as the Chamber was told that Ruth Vogel and Rilla Higgins have sent in a comprehensive update.

Frank Mayner reported that someone is still

needed to spearhead an effort to get the Winnipeg Light Infantry cavalcade to visit Elk Point. Sid Holthe is concentrating his efforts on the tours originating in Lloydminster and visiting areas covered by the North West Rebellion, while Mayner himself is looking into plans for a visit to the Fort George - Buckingham House sites by the canoeists who are travelling from Rocky Mountain House to Fort Garry in July.

Mayner also asked for support from the Chamber on promotion of development of the fort sites by Alberta Culture's Historic Sites Branch. A letter has been drafted which will be sent to the Minister of Culture by the Chamber.

In Committee Reports, it was determined that Clark Stuparyk, Ken Aarbo and Allan Warawa will take the Economic Development Committee posts. The Tourism Committee was informed that a second copy of the financial statement was sent to Travel Alberta.

Carol Metz reported that Chamber membership now stands at 104 businesses and individuals.

Bruce Kleeberger of the Town Liason Committee reported that the Town had held their "shortest meeting in three years", and decided at that meeting to refurbish some of their old equipment, put some old equipment up for tenders, and buy several new items. He also reported that the Town has no bylaw regarding business operation hours, but that this matter is now before the Supreme Court of Canada, in reference to the Lord's Day Act.

Kleeberger noted that the Town is about to undertake a review of the General Municipal Plan, and requires two participants from the Chamber. Ken Aarbo and President Stuparyk volunteered to fill these chairs.

Stuparyk, Aarbo and Wayne Smith attended last week's meeting with Murphy Oil, and reported that the project shows promise of economic benefits for the town, which will include the creation of thirty-five permanent jobs, including many for local people, and the distinct possibility that Murphy may locate an office in Elk Point in the future.

Gail Kozicky of Lakeland College reported that 21 participants have already signed up for the Payday Survival course on March 29. She said that Gord Earl of Lakeland's Lloydminster campus would like to attend a future Chamber meeting to discuss holding various courses here. It was decided to ask Earl to attend the April 17 meeting.

The Chamber was told that enlargement of the Elk Point Post Office is drastically needed, with a reported 44 persons on the waiting list for mail boxes, and a two year wait before a box is available. Councillor Kleeberger suggested that the Town would be able to provide meaningful statistics if the Chamber wishes to pursue this problem.

Carol Metz noted that the day was Ron Barwick's 85th Birthday. Barwick received a round of hearty applause from the Chamber, and thanked the Chamber for the gift presented at Saturday's gathering in his honor.

Barwick will represent the Chamber at the upcoming Tourism conference in Lethbridge, with the Chamber paying for his registration fee and accommodation. It has not yet been decided if the Chamber will send representation to the Alberta Chamber's Annual Meeting in Calgary.

operation, including production operators, steam operators, technicians and maintenance men.

Local businesses will have an opportunity to profit from the development's requirements for on-site construction, drilling, installation of facilities and general services, throughout the construction and operational phases. The Murphy project will require everything from clearing of well sites to office supplies and survey stakes, and will involve numerous types of tradespeople.

Displays at the Open House included a map clearly showing the proposed location of the project, and a large colored aerial photograph of their existing pilot project. Diagrams and maps showing their recovery techniques, well layouts, and a cutaway view of the evaporation dehydrator which removes all water from the recovered crude oil drew much interest from the viewers.

Other panels of the display addressed the questions of environmental conservation and community development stemming from the project.

A clear plastic box, affixed with a heavy rubber glove, formed an interesting display. The box, half filled with crude oil, was accompanied by a sign inviting viewers to reach into the rubber glove and feel the weight and consistency of the oil. A cover on the top could be lifted to reveal small holes through which one could sniff the pungent odor of the product.

Murphy Oil personnel on hand for the Open House included Dennis Cameron, Peter Supronovich, Lindon Bland, Wayne McKay, Don Verdonck, Bud McLean, Sherry Klimove and Tony Giffin, plus a number of workers from the present operation.

Klinger wins oil 'spiel for 2nd year

Klinger Oilfield Services were declared winners of the Second Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Bonspiel for the second consecutive year on Sunday, when three days of curling and entertainment drew to a close for thirty two rinks of oil industry curlers.

The Klinger squad pulled ahead of their Heavy Oil 1st Event rivals, the Petro Tec Electric rink, by a single point in the ninth end, with the final end a real down to the wire contest. With only two skip rocks left and the house totally empty, the Klinger skip threw a front-house biter. A valiant effort by the Petro Tec skip to draw in and tie up the game was daunted by the application of too much weight, which sent the rock through the house and gave Klinger the win.

The Westmin Resources Ltd. trophy and handsome trophy buckles went to the Klinger curlers, Jim Donald, Bernie Heinrichs, Richard Klinger and Mel Klinger, along with portable mini TV's from Fort George Motel. Large tool sets from Bumper to Bumper went to Willy Potapinski, Jack Smith, Ken Ference and Jim Ference of the Petro Tec Electric rink. Barbues from Mohawk went to the third place Empress Restaurant rink, while radio telephones from Macleods went to the fourth place O & G Electric Ltd. rink.

The Elk Point Oilfield Services trophies in the Oil Sands 2nd Event went to the CEDA Chemical and Research foursome, Wayne Spence, Merle Spence, Merle Reid and Bill Ballas, along with drill presses from Macleods, following a very close game against Hi West Well Servicing. Hi West curlers Craig Schnell, Ed Harty, Jack Tarnowsky and Dave Yake, were the recipients of bench grinders from Phil's Hardware. Shop vacuums and attache cases, both from Macleods, went to the Viking Oilfield Supply and Corod Manufacturing rinks, who took third and fourth places in the second event.

Champion Northwestern Chemicals defeated the hometown KK Lawrence Vacuum Service rink in the Huff'n'Puff 3rd Event, to win the BMW Monarch trophies and ghetto blasters from Phil's Hardware. The winning rinkmates were Doug Kiepps, Merle James, Gerald Austin and Arnold Priest.

Portable gas barbecues from Phil's Hardware went to the KK Lawrence curlers, Roland Moneta, Gary Ockerman, Kevin Lawrence and Ken Wittmack. Workmate benches and fishing equipment, all from Phil's, went to the third place Continental Supply rink and the fourth place Sparrow Electric team.

The Oilmen's Bonspiel started Friday noon, when the curlers on the first eight rinks to play were led in a ceremonial parade onto the ice by a trio of kilted bagpipers. Mayor Ed Buck was on hand to throw the opening rock of the spiel.

Entertainment enjoyed by the curlers included a stag social on Friday night and a bounteous banquet and dance on Saturday evening.

OPENING ROCK — Mayor Ed Buck throws the first rock to open the 2nd Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Bonspiel.

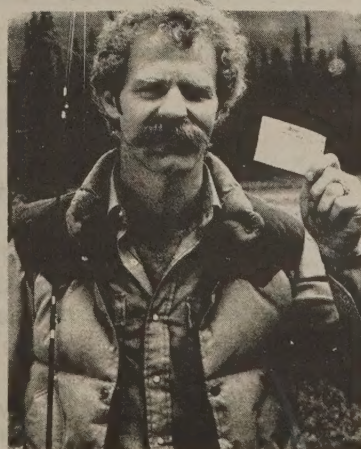

For a first rate fishing season, here's the catch!

Angling licences for 1985 will be available on April 1. Be sure to pick up yours and carry it with you.

And before you cast your first line, check your 1985 Guide to Sportfishing Regulations for important rule changes.

The 1985 regulation summary contains new maps with more information on fishing locations, including lakes that have been stocked with trout and other species.

Further information on mercury levels in fish from various lakes and rivers throughout the province is also contained in the 1985 summary.

And remember...limit your catch, don't catch your limit. Leave some behind for next time.

1985 angling licences are available at local Fish and Wildlife offices. For the office nearest you consult the Government of Alberta telephone listings.

Alberta residents 65 years of age and older and children under 16 years of age do not require an angling licence, however you are invited to drop by your local Fish and Wildlife office and pick up a copy of the 1985 regulations.

"Second Class Mail Registration Pending"

Let's hear all sides

With spring now at hand and snow thawing rapidly, thoughts are turning to the planning and development of the Town of Elk Point's newly purchased recreational land.

Representatives of many organizations are being asked to participate in the planning process, and each group will be bringing in ideas that they would like to see incorporated in the development.

We have been assured that the property offers sufficient space for many types of leisure activity, and we are all eagerly looking forward to putting this picturesque area to use.

It must be remembered, as the planning process gets underway, that there is room for all, and that listening to the ideas of others is often very worthwhile. Reasonableness and give-and-take are appropriate planning tools which should be put to use at every opportunity.

It took a large portion of last year to decide to purchase this property. Let us not take so long arguing over how to develop the land, that 1985 is gone before plans are complete and work gets underway.

What was gained by the just-concluded month long Elk Island teachers' strike? Absolutely nothing. What was lost? Absolutely everything.

The teachers originally sought 4% over two years. The Board offered 3%. The 1% difference for the average $35,000 a year salary amounts to only $1.60 per day.

And what was the settlement for? The 3.5% agreed upon means Elk Island teachers will receive $175.00 a year more than what they went on strike for. That works out to only 88 cents a day.

But while teachers gained a 3.5% salary hike over two years, they actually lost 9.5% based on one half per cent of their yearly salary lost for each day of their strike.

In other words, Elk Island teachers end up with a contract which will actually see them lose 6% of this year's salary.

That's why the Edmonton local of the Alberta Teachers' Association in studying alternatives to strike action, said this: "Yes, Virginia, there are alternatives to strikes. Never let anyone tell you otherwise. If we want to use them, we can. They may not be the magic answer. But neither is a strike."

To which I would simply say: "How true."

Spring thoughts

I held Spring in my hand today ...

When I left the calves at their artless play
To pick my way down the hoof-packed trails,
And clamber over age-silvered cowyard rails,
On my way to the creek, where willows sway.

With sugary crunch through boot deep snow,
And past the stick and mud beaver lodge,
Over the humps and hillocks I'd dodge Toward the willows, with their silvery glow.

There, up high, where no cow could graze
And against the blue of the springtime sky,
With fleecy white clouds bouncing by,
Branches thick with catkins met my gaze.

I reached up high with mittened hand
Pulled down a branch, pulled out my knife
And cut some twigs, bursting with new life,
And tall on tiptoed boots did stand,

I headed homeward, blithe springtime rover,
The pussy willows soft in my arm's careful fold

Carried as gently as if they were gold,
At last, I thought, the long winter is over ...

And Spring is here, in my longing hands.

You know she's out there. Somewhere between Physics 20 and Prince and the Revolution. Life seemed so simple, so uncomplicated when she was just your little girl. Her future as prime minister seemed assured.

And then, almost suddenly, you discovered an adolescent trapped inside her.

Where is she going? What is she becoming? That's what she's finding out. She's struggling with her own self image, her relationships and her future. And, she's learning to face important issues about herself, her friends and things like alcohol, cigarettes and other drugs.

Just because she's changing and challenging old ways doesn't mean she's stopped loving you or needing you. Your little girl is just learning how to grow. You've already got something she's discovering. It's called experience.

from the legislature

by JOHN DROBOT
M.L.A. for St. Paul Constituency

The third session of the 20th Legislature convened on Thursday, March 14th, 1985. It promises to be a busy session with some seventy Bills and Motions on the order paper. The Government has 6 top priority areas, one of which is economic recovery and employment stability to reinforce private sector recovery, on-the-job training and student support programs.

Second is to support the farm sector through the difficult cost-price squeeze with a variety of initiatives to measure and improve farm net income in cooperation with the Federal Government.

The Government will respond to basis education reforms in response to public discussion of junior and senior high school curricula. This is so necessary to better prepare our young people to meet the realities of the world market place.

The industrial and science strategy for Albertans to 1990 will be presented during the session or summer recess.

The provincial budget will be a major part and priority of this session. Regulation reform and deregulation and privatization will continue.

The Assembly will be considering a number of legislative proposals. Many Albertans are unaware that a number of Alberta's programs are unique in Canada and are the most fully funded of provincial programs across Canada.

The family and community support services are the only one of its kind in Canada.
The more than 200 participating municipalities, Indian bands and Metis settlements enter the program on an optional basis and generate over a million hours of volunteer involvement yearly.

Over 11,000 severely handicapped Albertans received assured income benefits in 1985.

The Aids to Daily Living program provides medical equipment and supplies to chronically ill and disabled Albertans under the age of 65. Only one other province has similar benefits.

It is well accepted that Alberta's array of senior citizens is far ahead of any of the rest of the country. Our home improvement grants, property tax rebates and home heating rebates help our seniors to maintain their independence.

Our Widow's Pension program is unique in Canada and this innovation is now being considered by other governments.

Provincially funded post secondary institutions served some 69,000 Albertans last year.

45,000 students were helped in meeting education costs by loans and grants. The Alberta Heritage scholarship program assisted 6,000 students.

The new facilities at Alberta Vocational Center in Lac La Biche are evidence of our government's continuing commitment to provide educational opportunities for northern and Native people.

The 1984 Native Education project is well underway and will result in policy, programs and materials to further support Native education.

Hospital trustees are to be congratulated on their successful efforts in improving budget controls.

The program of improving and expanding the Alberta Hospital system will continue at a high level of activity. There were 21 new hospitals opened throughout Alberta and 11 additional new hospitals are scheduled for completion. Medical research and capital projects will continue to be strongly supported.

A new Child Welfare Act will be part of the progressive new legislation.

The Public Health Act passed in the last assembly will be proclaimed this year.

The Senior's Home Improvement program at the cost of $140 million has assisted 50,000 senior citizens. Approximately 400 new senior citizen housing units were approved for construction last year, mainly in smaller centres.

In the energy sector, in-situ oil sands projects at Elk Point, Lindbergh, and Peace River as well as the upgrader at Lloydminster have accelerated activity.

Tourism, which generates two billion dollars in revenue, employs 80,000 Albertans and contributes to the income of 5,000 Alberta businesses. It is a growing industry in Alberta offering many opportunities for new jobs.

The Natural Gas Protection Plan has been extended for another 3 years to March 31st, 1988. The concept of the plan introduced in 1974 is based on the philosophy that natural gas resources belong to all Albertans, and that Albertans should benefit from ownership of these resources. About 75% of Alberta's gas production is exported to the rest of Canada and the United States. The remaining 25% is used within the province.
Therefore the policy is to shelter the 650,000 residents, 66,000 commercial and 600 industrial users from the effects of price increases caused by the rising value of Alberta natural gas markets outside the province.
Between 1974 to the present time benefits to Albertans were in excess of one billion dollars. This year the average home owner will benefit by approximately $115.00. The extension by 3 years will provide continued price protection while allowing for reasonable financial and economic planning.

north eastern alberta health unit

BSE teaching clinic

In 1983, approximately 9,000 Canadian women will develop breast cancer. It remains the major cancer killer in women and for some unknown reason, Alberta has the highest incidence of breast cancer in North America.

Nine-five percent of all diagnosed breast cancers were detected first by women themselves either by practising breast self-examination (BSE) or by chance. By doing monthly BSE, cancers can be detected earlier, resulting in a greater chance of cure and easier treatment. Actually, 85% of people who contract breast cancer have a 5 year survival rate if the cancer is detected and treated early.

The following persons are at increased risk for developing breast cancer: women over 35, those with a family history of breast cancer, women who smoke, women who consume a high fat diet and women who have other types of breast disease.

Fortunately, 85 percent of breast lumps are not cancerous. However, it is necessary for anyone who detects a lump to see a physician and have this checked.

April is cancer-awareness month and North Eastern Alberta Health Unit will be presenting a teaching clinic on breast self-examination. Persons who attend will learn how to do breast self-examination correctly, how to reduce the risk of developing cancer and why Pap smears are necessary. This session is free of charge and open to women of all ages. It is being held at the health unit office in St. Paul on April 01, from 7-9 p.m.

Dewberry and district news

by CLIFF CUNNINGHAM

On February 26th, five of our Senior Citizens attended the auxiliary tea at the hospital in Islay. Bill Brock, president of the Dewberry Senior Citizens, presented a cheque for five hundred dollars from the town and Senior Citizens from the transportation grant to help with the expenses of the Islay Handy Van.

Mrs. Young, an old timer of the Dewberry district passed away in the Vermilion Health Care Complex and her funeral was held in the Vermilion United Church. Mrs. Young was Donna Porter's mother. We are all in sympathy for her, her family and relatives.

Another old timer of the Greenlawn and Dewberry districts passed away. Roy Jones funeral was held in the Dewberry Hall March 16th, with a large crowd attending and Rev. Don Lamont officiating. Interment was in the Dewberry cemetery. We are all in sympathy for his wife Doris and all her relatives. One by one we are losing our old timers. We have been keeping our funeral cards since we moved to Dewberry in 1981. There are over thirty cards and twenty or more of these funerals have been held in Dewberry. Sandy Ewen was taken by ambulance to Edmonton Friday March 15th. Molly McLean, while on her rural route delivering mail, was hit by a vehicle when she was out of her vehicle putting mail in a box. She got her ankle broke on one foot and a bone broke in the other leg. She was in the hospital for a couple of days. She is home now. Bill Maddex is in an Edmonton hospital and had an operation. We all wish you a speedy recovery, Bill.

Scotty and Dorie MacDonald called in on Saturday, March 16th. They were at the Jones' funeral. The Dewberry Carnival drew a large crowd on Saturday, March 16th. The children did read well in acting out their part. A lot of time is spent in making these costumes for only a short time out on the ice. We all would like to give a special thanks to all who helped to put on such a nice show. Precision Skating by guest skaters from Lloydminster was real nice.

The Grade 12 slave auction was the last of the program. The sound system was not loud enough as most of us did not know the price that they each sold for.

The carnival queens all looked nice out on the ice with each parent escorting them. The new queen, Karen Orem, was crowned by last years queen, Monique Garnier. In the carnival queen ticket sales, Eugene DeFord of Clondonald, won the first prize. Edward Trach of Dewberry won the second prize and Alvin Kube of Lonerock, Sask. won third prize. Of the two grocery hampers that were raffled off, Archie McLean of Kitscoty won one hamper, and Elaine Timanson of the Riverton district won the second hamper. Chuckwagon races at the Carnival, first prize was Dale Bates trucking of Dewberry, second - David Bensmiller, third - Cote Trach and fourth - Garnier Ranching. Best dressed wagon was David Bensmiller.

Flyweights' hockey tournament at Dewberry, March 16th. Vermilion won the B series and Dewberry won the A series (Tom Thumbs). March 11th - Dewberry 1, Lloyd 2 (Flyweights). March 13th - Marwayne 6, Dewberry 6 (Bantoms). March 13th - Vermilion Elks 4, Grand Center Welding 2. Dewberry won in the first round of playoffs against Marwayne and are now playing Kitscoty in the next round.

We are having nice weather now. Water running all over. Last weeks low was 12 above F and high 44 above F.

Happy Birthday to all that had or have a Birthday coming in the month of March.

a good move for western grain.

A major new world-class port facility. Prince Rupert Grain Terminal will serve western Canadian farmers exporting grain to Asian Pacific Rim countries.

The Government of Alberta financed 80 per cent of the $275-million cost, almost half of it through Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund loans. The Prince Rupert project is a unique example of public and private sectors working together in the interest of prairie producers.

The terminal is operated by Prince Rupert Grain Ltd., a consortium of Alberta Wheat Pool, Pioneer Grain, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, Cargill Ltd., United Grain Growers Ltd., and Manitoba Pool Elevators. It will be officially opened on May 16, 1985.

This new terminal responds to the increasing problems of moving export grain to market. It is at the terminus of Canada's best rail route to the Pacific Coast. Its deep-sea harbour and efficient local rail handling facilities will assure Canada's export grain customers of reliable delivery.

A state-of-the-art computer system moves the grain through this ultra-modern elevator, one of the world's most technologically advanced grain handling, storage and shiploading facilities. Grain can be cleaned, stored and shipped as fast as it can be unloaded from railcars.

With a 200,000-tonne storage capacity, the new facility will increase grain export capabilities on the west coast by 20 per cent. Prairie farmers, anticipating a growing market in Asian Pacific Rim countries, will no longer be limited by any shortfall in west coast export capability.

Congratulations to Prince Rupert Grain Ltd., and its six member firms on the completion of a project that will greatly enhance the grain export capability of western Canadian farmers.

Ferguson Flats, Lindbergh and Primrose news

By Mildred Dunham

Spring must be almost here as there have been several reports of crows, gophers and such. The weather has been just lovely and our snowbanks are shrinking.

Things have been very quiet around Primrose, the only activities are people getting a bit of brushing done.

Ferguson Flats had their whist drive last weekend. The final whist drive will be held on the 30th. Trophies will be awarded for the top scores for the men and women for the 1985 whist drive season and for perfect attendance. Even if you haven't been there this winter, you can still have a chance at the evening prize. It will probably be the last chance until next season.

Pioneer circle march meeting

by IRENE MAGNUSSON

The March 19/85 Director's meeting of the Elk Point Pioneer Circle opened with 17 persons present, and Marg Clark, president, in the chair. Guest speaker, Sid Holthe, representing the Alberta Senior Citizen's Sports and Recreation Association, brought information regarding the 1985 Mini Games.

Mr. Holthe opened with a brief outline of the purposes of the Games, and the format used. Each Seniors' Center holds competitions in the games listed, and the winners will then compete in the Area Games, to determine who will go on to the Zone playoffs. Competitors must be members of the AB. Sr. Citizen's Sports and Rec. Assoc. Membership is $2.00 annually.

The list of activities for this year includes bridge, carpet bowling, cribbage, discing, floor curling, shuffleboard, snooker, golf and horseshoe pitching. There are various age groupings, but the total includes all ages, and is intended for both men and women.

Holthe hinted that there COULD be a trip to win, but all winners will be awarded gold, silver, or bronze pins. He noted that all Local playoffs should conclude by April 24th, Area playoffs by May 24th, and the Zone playoffs will be finalized by the end of June.

Mr. Holthe, 2nd vice-president of the Assoc. (for northern part of province) and Area 5 Director, will attempt to have the Zone 7 playoffs held in the Elk Point Center, and suggests entertainment and lunch would go well. Next year the Seniors' Games terminates in province-wide playoffs at Camrose, as in 1984. Entrants must pay their own way to these events, but since transportation may be shared, and there is no over-night lodging required, the cost would not be great.

The group thanked Mr. Holthe for the information presented. Rules will be announced and posted in the hall.

Minutes of the February meeting were read by secretary Alys Randall, and accepted. It was noted that the music desired had been unavailable, consequently there was no dance.

The Financial report was ready by Erika Bender, and accepted on motion. Walter Saranchuk has agreed to do the annual audit of the books.

Correspondence was read and dealt with: A request from the Elk Point Library Board elicited a motion to donate $200 toward furnishing of the new Library, motion carried.

Vermilion Seniors announce the official opening of their new Center on April 19th at 1:30 p.m. Several members indicated a desire to attend.

The NEA Health Unit invites all to an Open House in St. Paul, April 12, 1985, to celebrate their new facility.

A note from the Elk Point Elks Lodge indicated agreement with the Pioneer Circle's suggestion to fence the area between the two halls, for recreation use. Letter was tabled for 'springtime' action.

Information on the Alberta government's S.T.E.P. program was read, with comments that the group may be eligible for grant funds if they wished to hire one of these students.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce indicated that once again the staffing of the Tourist Booth will be done by seniors. The job offered $3.80 an hour, four-hour days, and application should be made to Ron Barwick by anyone interested.

The Alberta Council of Aging has available a magazine which is free to members. Membership is $15.00 annually. The group will meet once again in Red Deer.

Verbal thanks were extended by Grace Barwick for the decorated cake received in honor of Mr. Barwick's birthday, and for good wishes extended by the group.

The Constitution was then read and discussions made on a few proposed alterations it seems to require. These changes will be brought to the attention of the membership at the Annual meeting, coming up April 16, 1985.

President Clark stated there is a quantity of old lumber, etc. in the basement. Since this poses a fire hazard, and is not very neat, she requested that a few of the members should have a look and proceed to clear it out. Vice-president George Mackenzie agreed to inspect this area, and do what he could with it. Motion adjourn came at 3:35 p.m.
